JOINT POLICE CHIEFS EXECUTIVE FORUM

SUMMARY

A jointly sponsored and administered forum bringing together law enforcement executives in New Jersey and Ontario to discuss, explore and exchange ideas in the field of law enforcement leadership and administration. This forum is designed to address practical, operational issues that require police leaders to have the skills and competencies to deal with leadership challenges impacting police organizations.

Law enforcement agencies throughout North America share a number of pressing issues. To address and explore these issues and challenges, a series of sessions (including a plenary and breakout meetings) will be convened in New Jersey and Ontario.

SESSION I: "Police/Community Relations in the 21st Century"

March 29-31, 2016
The Seaview Resort
Galloway, New Jersey

SESSION II: "Economics of Policing"

September 13-15, 2016
Hilton Meadowvale
Mississauga, Ontario

Underlying the NJSACOP's and OACP's missions is a desire to improve the effectiveness of public safety organizations and personnel by helping to prepare them to meet the complex leadership and organizational challenges presented by our rapidly changing society and operational environment. These same values are shared by many organizations and entities throughout the international law enforcement community.

GOAL

The Joint Police Chiefs Executive Forum [JPCEF] is designed to provide an open and effective platform for communication and collaboration among stakeholders in law enforcement leadership, management, and professional development. Ultimately, the objective is to not only better inform these stakeholders as to current conditions and future trends, but also to arm them with pertinent information and tools that can be implemented in their respective agencies and communities.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Senior police officers with rank and senior civilian managers. Those who have been identified as having the potential to be promoted to command level within the organization.

SESSION I - PROGRAM OUTLINE

Police/Community Relations in the 21st Century

Society's perception of law enforcement is changing. We see evidence of this change every day across the nation. The first question we must ask, however, is whether this perception is based on truth and facts, or if it is based on myths, falsehoods, or innuendos. Unfortunately, in many cases we find it is based on the latter and likely fueled through media dramatization. With each passing day, we are witnessing an erosion of public confidence in police officers and law enforcement agencies. Society's view of acceptable police behavior has changed significantly. In turn, this has motivated law enforcement officials to revisit police behavioral standards within their departments to ensure they are maintained at such a level as to not erode their community's trust. It is often said that no other profession demands a higher ethical standard than that of law enforcement. Regardless of whether or not there are other careers that require a similar dedication to doing the right thing, it is understandable that there are tremendous expectations placed upon peace officers and rightly so.

ABOUT OUR PRESENTER

Eric P. Daigle

Principal Eric P. Daigle practices civil litigation in federal and state courts, with an emphasis on municipalities and public officials. His experience includes defending municipal clients in civil rights actions, including police misconduct litigation and employment actions, as well as premises and general tort liability. Attorney Daigle also defends the rights of officers charged with criminal acts, and has brought civil actions against those who have violated the legal rights of officers.

Attorney Daigle acts as a legal advisor to police departments across the Country. He provides legal advice to law enforcement command staff and officers in the areas of legal liability, internal affairs, discipline, policy drafting, employment issues, use of force, laws of arrest, and search and seizure. His experience focuses on officers' use of force, specifically in the training, investigation, and supervision of force, as well as deadly force incidents involving law enforcement.

Attorney Daigle acts in his capacity as a Law Enforcement Consultant providing guidance and oversight to department command staff on operations, organizational structure and risk management. Many departments have retained Attorney Daigle to assist with the review, development, and revision of department policies to maintain and reflect current police practices. Attorney Daigle serves as a member of independent monitoring teams and acts as an auditor in reviewing police department organizational compliance with procedural revisions directed or overseen by the Federal court system.

From 1992 to 2002, Attorney Daigle worked for the Connecticut State Police, during which time he spend many years as a detective assigned to investigate units. His experience included leading investigations; processing crime scenes for the collection of forensic evidence; and preparing cases for prosecution. Attorney Daigle is currently assigned as a reserve officer and maintains his Connecticut Police certification.

As a Connecticut P.O.S.T. certified law enforcement instructor in the area of legal training, Attorney Daigle provides legal training to law enforcement officers throughout the state for recruit and in-service training. This training includes search and seizure, laws of arrest, use of force legal updates, civil liability, search warrant drafting, racial profiling, TASER liability, and courtroom testimony and demeanor. Attorney Daigle has hosted and participated in seminars focusing on use of force legal standards, including Tactical Operations, TASER usage and responses to deadly force incidents by police.

Attorney Daigle is General Counsel for FBI—Law Enforcement Executive Development Association and a member of its instructor cadre teaching Internal Affairs. He is well versed in best practice standards for use of force and internal affairs. He is a member of the Americans for Effective Law Enforcement (AELE) Board of Directors, an instructor in the use of force seminar, and holds its Certified Litigation Specialist (CLS) credential. Attorney Daigle is the Vice Chairman of the International Association of Chiefs of Police Legal Officers Section and a member of the National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE). He holds the Certified Practitioner of Oversight from NACOLE.
